these the Mill and Fertilizer shares were most conspicuous.

The action of the market disappointed hopes for a continuation today of the upward movement, which had made considerable headway at the close of last week. Expectations of a further rise were predicted upon the recent expansion in the demand for bonds, such an inocease in the investment inquiry frequently having been a fore-runner of an increased absorption of stocks. Trading in bonds continued on a heavy scale, the total of the day's transactions being one of the largest for several months. The uncertainty of the outlook in business and politics lands to hold back an expansion of this movement to stocks, since the present disposition of traders is to take quick profits rather than to enter take quick profits rather than to enter upon commitments for the "long pull." The heaviness of the market today was attributed largely to profit taking

United States Steel was subjected to Outfielder Signs With Giants.

New York, Jan. 22.—The New York National league club received a signed cantract oday from George Burns, inc. young outfielder, procured from the sure.

United States Steel was subjected to vigorous drives from the bears. An advance in the price of steel wire and wire products was of no effect upon the stock. Some of the soiling was based upon reports that developments unfavorable to the steel corporation were expected soon at Washington. Union Pacific also was under pressure.

Among the stocks which advanced, Great Northern preferred, with a gain of 5-8, was most epaspicuous. The Fertilizers came into prominence again and interborough-Metropolitan shares reflected expectations that the company will receive subway awards soon.
Heading was stimulated for a time by a speculative demand apparently based upon the recent sharp upturn in Centrai Railroad of New Jersey, but was unable to hold its advantage. In the bond market trading was broad and confident. Some issues which recently have advanced smartly were lower on account of profit taking, but prices in general were better, with in-terborough-Metropolitan 41-2s strong. Total sales, par value, $6,315,600. Pansma threes declined 1-8 on call.

IN FANNING COBB Detroit Club Doctor Says Players Should Indulge in Various Sports,

Almoth every pitcher has some star course of events this situation frequently reverses itself. One would marvel, perhaps, to hear of a slab-man who had fanned the mighty Cobb four consecutive times in a single bail exercise in the winter months. Dr. game. In fact, the performance would give visions of some herculean mon-strosity whose mighty arm produced the sense that the word is used by colstroeity whose mighty arm produced such terrific speed that it was worth a catcher's life to stand behind the bat. It must have been some superhuman being that accomplished this, you will be a spiendid thing, especially for those tossers who are dissay, but not so. It was a little pitcher: yes, one of the smallest men who ever wore a major league uniform, and it was none other than Clark Griffith.

It happened in Detroit in the season

It happened in Detroit in the season of 1905. Cobb had set the fans of De-troit on edge by his wonderful hit-ting and speed. All pitchers seemed stands sympathized in anticipation of what would happen when Cobb faced him. About all that Grif had was nerve, good control and a most decep-tive slow ball, and it was to this that he attributes the feat herein narrated. He struck Cobb out the first time he faced him on three slow ones, mixing them up with fast ones, which he kept away from the plate and out of reach. He dupicated this performance the next time up, and again Cobb fell a victim. Believing that he had nothing to expect but speed and a change of near the set himself ready for of pace, Cobb set himself ready for these when he came up for a third time. But now Griffith was curving, 80—233 time. But now Grants to the plate, Griffith shot three fast ones over on the center of the plate and Cobb was called out on strikes. He had expected even more than he had seen on his previous three trips to the plate, and the last time up, but with the usual Griffith style, he got just what he did not expect, and to this day he believes that Griffith was the only pitcher who ever turned this trick at his expense.
92—239 and again Cobb sat down.

ADVOCATES WINTER EXERCISE.

According to Dr. William E. Kean club physician to Detroit, the spring training trips of big league clubs could between seasons are walking into the dining room three times a day.

The work in the south is divided into two classes, first getting ready to practo be mere toys in his hands, and tice and second practice itself. As al-when, one summer day, the wily Grif-fith was carded to pitch, those in the take off weight by the wholesale can most anyone who has been obliged to take off weight by the wholesale can attest, there is small joy involved in the process. It is hard work all the way through. Nearly every one of the fleshy boys announces annually after he has accorded in attest. he has succeeded in getting down to the proper figure that never again will he allow himself to get so out of shape. Then the next winter he lets the ad-pose tissue pile up just the same as ever. There is no question that if it were neastificate and a ball claim south were possible to send a buil club south with every man somewhere near his playing weight the length of time spent in the warm clime could be reduced greatly. It takes a week or more in Dixie for some of the big fellows to get into good enough condition so that they really can get any real results in the way of refreshing their knowledge of how to handle the ball or hit it, and his must be considered largely a waste Dr. Keane's argument is that it is much better for an athlete to devote a few minutes every day to flesh-pre-venting exercises than to have to en-dure the tortures that accompany the lask of taking off 26 or 36 pounds within a comparatively short time. As ball players never observe the strict dieting rules insisted on by the college trainers, there is no necessity for their changing their menu in the winter, ex-ercise of the proper sort being sum-cient to keep the fat down.

HAD DELEHANTY'S GOAT. Ed Was a Great Hitter but Billy

Rhines Had Him Stopped. A greater hitter than Ed Delehanty as perhaps never produced. He was ne of the hard swinging kind, who rove terror into the hearts of every toher, right or left handed, who need him, and yet there was onc twirler, and he was not a great stat, whom Del could not hit with a plank He was Billy Rhines, who in the early $0s pitched for Cincinnati. He had an underhand delivery, which was baffling to Delehanty, and it was nothing unusual for Rhines to strike him out three or four times in a game Rhines' power over Delehanty was so great that on several occasions owed a much less impressive hitter lowed a much less impressive hitter to take his place, simply because he did not believe he could hit Rhines.

The average left handed hitter dreads to see a left handed pitcher work against him, and yet it is a fact that when a left hander is competent he pitches just as effectively against right handed hitters as he does against home who had to be a proper to the second secon those who bat from the other side of the plate. It is a fact, too, that left handers do not have the same effectiveness against their own kind that they once possessed. There are now a whole lot of left handed hitters who are just as dangerous against a southpaw as against a right hander. Cobb and Milan, for instance, are not bothered by the south wing delivery. They have mastered the art of following that curve ball, and there are many others who do not fear these deliver-This, of course, because of the

The requirements of the game have changed considerably since John M. was an active player. The pitcher of today doesn't play beanbag.
